

Providence ElderPlace

In-home Services

In-home services offer seniors who direct their own care the ability to continue living in their home with support from ElderPlace. In-home services are one part of the comprehensive package you get with Providence ElderPlace.

We offer the following services in partnership with contracted in-home agencies:

- Meal preparation, shopping, errands
- Housekeeping
- Medication reminders
- Personal care, such as bathing, dressing and grooming
- Regular visits to our Health & Social Centers for activities, meals, socialization and medical care

Our in-home service coordinator works closely with trained, professional caregivers to provide a seamless experience and to ensure quality care. And should the need arise, our ElderPlace Interdisciplinary Team is available to help those in our program transition to other levels of care.

Providence ElderPlace offers a continuum of living options, including ElderPlace-supported housing in Cully, Glendoveer and Irvington Village. We also contract with numerous licensed assisted living and residential care facilities and adult care homes throughout our service area.
